Course Objectives: The purpose of this course is to introduce you to the field of social psychology. There are three major sub-goals: (1) To explain how social psychologists think about and study human behavior. (2) To introduce you to the body of knowledge and underlying principles that currently exist in the field. (3) To encourage reflection about the implications of social psychological research for the situations we encounter in everyday life.

Class Format: This class involves two lectures and a recitation each week. The 50-minute lectures will cover the topics listed on this syllabus. The text covers these same topics, but lectures and text overlap only about 50%. Consequently you will need to attend lectures, recitations, and read the text to learn all of the examinable material.

Recitations: You will also be assigned to a recitation section that will meet once each week. In recitation, you will take part in a variety of activities meant to build on and extend lecture material. Such activities will include discussions of readings, demonstrations of classic social psychological phenomena, discussions of relevance of social psychology to daily news, and a major project. Recitation is designed to give you greater insight into the research process and applications, and to provide opportunities to discuss course material in smaller groups. TAs are advanced social psychology graduate students. They, and they alone, are responsible for your grading in their recitations.

Grading. Course grades will be based on 3 non-cumulative midterm exams (each worth 25%), and recitation participation, assignments and projects (totaling 25%). Make-ups will only be granted with a valid medical excuse, and will be taken at a time convenient for your TA. The grades will follow the following breakdown. The percentages are based on the top score achieved in the class. There are no extra credit opportunities.

100 - 90%	=	A
89 - 80%	=	B
79 - 70%	=	C
69 - 60%	=	D
< 60%	=	F

Purdue Student Code of Honor: Know it and follow it. For your own sake, do your own work. Plagiarism is a serious offense, and is easily detectable with the advent of search engines. It does not matter if you plagiarized intentionally or unintentionally—either way it is plagiarism. Here is a useful website to understand the definition and issues surrounding plagiarism: http://owl.english.purdue.edu/handouts/research/r_plagiar.html

In the event of a major campus emergency, course requirements, deadlines and grading percentages are subject to changes that may be necessitated by a revised semester calendar or other circumstances. Here are ways to get information about changes in this course. WebCT Vista web page, my class web page, email address: kjp@psych.purdue.edu, and my office phone: 494-0845.
